OWNERSHIP

DANIEL GILBERT
Majority Owner

Dan Gilbert is majority owner of the NBA's Cleveland Cavaliers basketball team and operator of the Quicken Loans Arena. In addition, he recently led the purchase of an American Hockey League (AHL) franchise that will begin play in the fall of 2007 at The Q.

Dan became majority owner of the Cavaliers in March, 2005. In the short period of time he has owned the team, he has led a complete overhaul of the basketball front office, coaching staff, player personnel, and game presentation.

In addition, he has led the ownership group's $30 million investment in renovations at the Quicken Loans Arena. These investments include over 20,000 new seats, state-of-the-art scoreboards, video systems, sound systems, new lighting technology, arena graphics, signage, security, player locker rooms, new partner entertainment facilities, as well as brand new administrative offices for the entire Cavalier and arena business teams.

Dan has also led the investment and planning of a new $20-25 million player development center, named Cleveland Clinic Courts. The facility is currently under construction and is located in nearby Independence, Ohio. It will provide the Cavaliers with the highest quality and most advanced year-round practice and training center in the NBA.

In Dan's first full year of ownership, the Cavaliers posted the sixth best record in the NBA at 50–32. The team returned to the playoffs for the first time since 1998, won a playoff series for the first time since 1993, and nearly upset the heavily-favored Detroit Pistons in the second round, taking the Pistons to the seventh and final game of the series.

Most importantly, Dan has instilled a championship caliber culture throughout the entire Cavaliers organization. This unique anti-bureaucratic, common-sense, people empowering approach is the foundation for the rejuvenation of the franchise and arena.

The fan base and corporate community have responded strongly with a high level of confidence in the direction of the team on and off the court. The Cavaliers currently rank near the top of the league in revenue per capita, making them one of the most successful business operations in the NBA.

But by Dan's own admission, the organization should not be considered 100% successful until the Cavaliers deliver an NBA championship to the fans, partners and supporters of the team throughout Ohio and beyond.

Gilbert is also Chairman and Founder of the nation's largest online home mortgage lender, Quicken Loans, Inc.

Quicken Loans recently opened a new Internet Home Lending Center in downtown Cleveland. Once fully operational, the nearly 50,000 square foot operation will house 350 new high-paying mortgage banking jobs which are expected to create more than $30 million in annual compensation for its Cleveland staff.

Quicken Loans Inc. is forecasting to close $18 billion in residential mortgage loans in 2006.

Dan's companies employ more than 5,000 people. Quicken Loans Inc. has been ranked a Top 15 "Best Place to Work" in America by FORTUNE magazine for the past three years and ranked the #1 place to work for technology employees in the United States by Computerworld Magazine two years in a row in 2005 and 2006.

Dan founded Rock Financial in 1985 as a 22–year-old, first–year law student. Rock Financial grew into one of the largest independent mortgage banks in the country. In May of 1998, the company went public on the NASDAQ exchange in an IPO led by Bear Stearns, Inc.

In January 1999, the company launched its Internet strategy which quickly positioned itself as the leader of online retail mortgages.

In July 2002, two and a half years after the sale of the company to Intuit, Gilbert led a small group of private investors and purchased Quicken Loans Inc. back from Intuit. The company is 100% privately held and retains all Quicken trademarks.

Dan is also a partner in the private investment group Camelot Ventures, which primarily invests in consumer–based, technology centered businesses.

Some of Camelot's current investments include: Michigan-based online promotions company, eprize; and Fathead LLC, which licenses and sells a new category of product for the true sports enthusiast.

A "Fathead" is a big, bold, colorful, 3-D looking, life-size, movable vinyl wall graphic of popular sports stars in an action pose, or fans favorite team helmets, in addition to NASCAR racecars.

Camelot also owns and operates FlashSeat, LLC. FlashSeat is a company which has created technology and processes that replaces physical tickets for large sports and entertainment events with an electronic approach. FlashSeat also offers a secure, online marketplace for transferring and selling tickets in a digital format. The Cavaliers are the first team in professional sports to use this new, innovative technology.

Camelot has significant investments in Xeko, an environmentally centered children's game, film and products based business as well as Rock Equities, a commercial and residential real estate developer and operator.

Gilbert was Rawlings Sporting Goods' largest shareholder and was instrumental in effecting the sale of Rawlings to K2 in March 2003.

Dan is the past-president of JARC, a non–profit organization that provides housing and services to the developmentally disabled. He also is on the board of the Children's Tumor Foundation in New York City and the Children's Hospital of Michigan Foundation.

Dan is currently developing a new urban entrepreneurial academy that will launch in January, 2007. The academy, called Bizdom U, is designed to train, mentor, finance and helps launch young entrepreneurs and their start-up businesses in urban areas.

Mr. Gilbert has recently been the keynote speaker at Harvard's Business School, the University of Michigan's Business School, the national NAACP conference as well as numerous other businesses, non–profit and educational groups.

Dan is a frequent guest on many national business programs including several stints as guest host on CNBC's Morning Call in New York City, as well as appearances on ESPN, CNN, FOX, ABC and other networks.

Mr. Gilbert earned his bachelor's degree from Michigan State University (Green not Blue) and his law degree from Wayne State University.

He was awarded the "Entrepreneur of the Year" award from Ernst and Young and was inducted into the Junior Achievement Hall of Fame.

He lives in Michigan with his wife and their five children.

OWNERSHIP

DAVID KATZMAN
Vice Chairman

David Katzman is Vice Chairman of the Cavaliers. Mr. Katzman became part of the majority ownership group of the Cavaliers in March 2005. He is also the Managing Partner for Camelot Ventures and Vice Chairman, Quicken Loans.

Camelot Ventures is a private investment group which invests in technology and other businesses. Some of the past and current investments have included contact lens retailing companies Lens 1st, Lens Express and 1-800-Contacts; Kintana, a technology chain automation software developer; Rawlings Sporting Goods; and Red Envelope, a leading online and catalog retailer of stylish gifts.

Camelot Ventures also recently formed Fathead, LLC, which licenses and sells a whole new category of product for the true sports enthusiast called a "Fathead." A Fathead is a big, bold, colorful, 3-D looking, life-size, movable vinyl wall graphic of your favorite NFL or NBA star in an action pose, or your favorite NFL or college football team helmet or NASCAR driver's racecar.

After 12 months of passively investing with Camelot Ventures, Katzman resigned from The Home Depot on April 1, 2000 to pursue venture investing and advising full time.

As former president of the Home Depot S.O.C., a division of The Home Depot USA, which specializes in the processing of special orders for The Home Depot stores nationwide, his responsibilities included developing The Home Depot's call center strategy for North America, process flow for handling special orders from initial customer contact to vendor payment, and full systems integration between the call centers, the Internet, the vendors and the stores. While President of this division, The Home Depot's overall store sales grew from $20 to $40 billion throughout North America.

Mr. Katzman began his career by working in various retail positions until he founded DeeKay Enterprises, Inc., in 1987. This was the start of a 10-year run at successfully launching a variety of consumer-oriented companies including a Midwest home decor retail chain, Habitat; the nation's second largest direct-to-consumer contact lens company, Lens 1st; and the number one direct-to-consumer home decor company, National Blinds and Wallpaper.

Home Depot purchased DeeKay Enterprises in 1997 and acquired all of the assets to strategically enter the direct-to-consumer marketplace and strengthen its special order systems in the stores.

Mr. Katzman sits on the Board of Directors for Quicken Loans, the nation's largest online direct mortgage lender, and formerly served on the board of 1-800-Contacts (NASDAQ - CTAC) the largest direct-to-consumer contact lens company in the world. Other Board positions include RealAge.com, a medical advocate and permission marketing site with over 1.5 million registered and active users, and Michigan-based online promotions company, ePrize.

He earned a B.A. in accounting/finance at Michigan State University and attended Detroit College of Law for his graduate work.

Mr. Katzman is involved in a number of community organizations and charities including past Chairperson of HAVEN charity (a non-profit that supports domestic abuse cases), Honorary Host of ORT charity (an educational non-profit), and JARC (a non-profit that serves the developmentally disabled). Mr. Katzman also is an all-around fundraiser for numerous other non-profits.

GORDON GUND

Twenty-three seasons ago, it looked as though the Cavaliers might be headed out of Northeast Ohio until Gordon, now 66 and a native of Cleveland, and his brother George stepped in to purchase the club at the last minute, keeping the team at The Coliseum.

The Gunds presided over the resurgence of The Coliseum and the design and construction of Gund Arena which opened at the beginning of the 1994-95 season. Under the guidance of the Gunds, building records were set in attendance and bookings in both facilities, while the Cavaliers recorded one of the largest increases in home attendance in the NBA over the past 20 seasons. In October 1996, Gund was elected Chairman of the NBA's Board of Governors and served in that capacity for three years.

In March of 2005, Gordon Gund sold a majority ownership stake in the Cavaliers, including the lease rights to Gund Arena (renamed Quicken Loans Arena in September of 2005), to the group headed by current Cavaliers majority owner, Dan Gilbert and fellow minority owner David Katzman. Gordon retained a minority ownership stake in the franchise.

As a former co-owner, with George, of the Minnesota North Stars of the National Hockey League, Gordon and his brother were instrumental in building that franchise before its eventual sale in the spring of 1990. At that time, Gordon and George were granted an NHL expansion team that began play as the San Jose Sharks for the 1991-92 season. The Gunds sold their majority stake in the Sharks during February of 2002.

The expertise displayed by Gordon in the sports world has been evident in his other interests as well. He serves as the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Gund Investment Corporation, which is involved in diversified investment activities. Gordon is a director of the Kellogg Company of Battle Creek, Michigan, and of Corning Incorporated of Corning, New York. He also recently served as a board member of the U.S. Olympic Committee.

Gordon now devotes a great deal of energy to national charitable and philanthropic causes. In 1971, he and his wife, Lulie, were members of the founding group of The Foundation Fighting Blindness, headquartered in Baltimore, Maryland and Gordon is its National Chairman. This foundation is dedicated to finding treatments and cures for retinitis pigmentosa and allied degenerative diseases of the retina, such as Usher syndrome and macular degeneration. These diseases as a group affect more than nine million Americans and are the leading causes of blindness and deafblindness in the United States today.

Gordon is a graduate of Harvard University and has honorary doctorates from the Goteburg University in Sweden, University of Maryland, Whittier College and the University of Vermont.

BUSINESS STAFF

LEN KOMOROSKI

President, Cavaliers/Quicken Loans Arena

Len Komoroski was named President of the Cavaliers/Quicken Loans Arena, which includes the newly-christened Quicken Loans Arena – "The Q", in April 2003. He spent the previous seven years as Senior Vice President and Chief of Business Operations for the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

A seasoned business executive, Komoroski brings more than 20 years of experience in professional sports and entertainment to the organization. His leadership and business initiative bring a solid foundation from which the Cavaliers and The Q can continue to thrive and flourish.

For the 2003-04 season, Komoroski oversaw the restructuring of how the Cavaliers approached the business community, including the development of a staff featuring some of the top sports marketing executives in the industry. The collective efforts both on and off the floor resulted in one of the top business turnaround stories in NBA history. The Cavaliers had the largest year-over-year attendance increase in NBA history, progressing from a league-low of 11,497 per game in 2002-03 to 18,288 in 2003-04 – a 59% increase. Television ratings were up 300% and featured revised broadcast agreements resulting in the largest number of locally-televised games in team history. Radio ratings also increased by more than 200% and local merchandise sales grew by 500%. The Cavaliers also experienced the largest increase in corporate partnership revenue in the NBA last season. He also led the charge in the transformation of the Cavaliers communications efforts and dramatic changes in developing one of the most dynamic game experiences in the NBA.

Since then, Komoroski has led continued growth and development across the board. The 2005-06 regular season attendance average was 19,327, which was the second largest in team history. Corporate sales revenue is now amongst the top tier of teams in the NBA, including a dynamic new season-presenting relationship by Cub Cadet. The Sports Business Journal also named the Cavs website as the best in the NBA and one of the best in sports for each of the last two seasons. For the 2006-07 season, he also played a leadership role in developing a dramatically larger relationship with Fox SportsOhio, encompassing 70 regular season games, as well as for the entitlement of the Cavaliers new state-of-the-art training facility – Cleveland Clinic Courts. In addition, he played a leadership role in the acquisition of an American Hockey League franchise, slated to begin play at The Q beginning with the 2007-08 season.

While with the Eagles, Komoroski brought many properties in-house, including the Eagles Television Network, which is the largest developer of local programming in the NFL. Under his guidance, the Eagles established the fan-friendly NFL Training Camp, which was the most heavily attended in the league, featuring autograph sessions, interactive games, hospitality and an extraordinary merchandise tent. He also helped broker a record-setting naming rights deal with NovaCare, garnering a reported $66 million for the Eagles training facility, the NovaCare Complex.

Komoroski also played a leadership role in the development of Lincoln Financial Field, the Eagles state-of-the-art stadium. Through his efforts, the Eagles secured a 20-year, $140 million naming rights agreement with Lincoln Financial Group, one of the largest such agreements in pro sports history. He and his business group orchestrated the successful sellout of 172 suites, 8,000 club seats, 29,000 Stadium Builder Licenses and a waiting list of over 40,000 for season tickets.

Through the efforts of Komoroski and his team, the Eagles were among the most successful NFL teams in securing long-term seven-figure per annum "Founding Partner" relationships for new stadia; in addition, they forged many other substantial six-figure per annum agreements. He also completed top-tier industry agreements for Eagles radio and television coverage and concession agreements for Lincoln Financial Field. Behind Komoroski's leadership, the organization secured major soccer events, concerts, Division I college football games and the Army/Navy Game, establishing Lincoln Financial Field as one of the most active stadiums in sports. Through these efforts and events the Eagles have become one of the highest grossing franchises in professional sports.

This is Komoroski's second stint in the NBA, having been with the Minnesota Timberwolves from 1988-94 and having played a major role in the start-up of the team and its arena, the Target Center. While Komoroski was Vice President of Sales and the senior sales and marketing official for the team and arena, the Timberwolves became one of the most financially successful organizations in the league. After Minnesota, he came to Cleveland as Senior Vice President and Chief Operating Officer of the International Hockey League's (IHL) Cleveland Lumberjacks, and immediately transformed the Lumberjacks into a flourishing enterprise. Both attendance and revenues saw sharp increases during Komoroski's time, and the Lumberjacks were one of three profitable IHL teams in 1996.

Komoroski got his start in sports in 1982 with the Pittsburgh Spirit of the Major Indoor Soccer League, followed by management roles with the Pittsburgh Penguins of the National Hockey League and the Minnesota Strikers of the MISL, and as a regional manager for the Miller Brewing Company's sports marketing arm.

Komoroski's achievements in professional sports have attracted considerable attention, and he has assumed leadership positions in several capacities. He is on the board of directors of the Cleveland chapters of City Year, the American Red Cross and the United Way, as well as the board of the Greater Cleveland Convention and Visitors Bureau. He is also a member of the Young Presidents Organization, the 50 Club and the Bluecoats.

Komoroski is a 1982 cum laude graduate of Duquesne University. He and his wife Denise are the parents of three daughters – Kristin, Kelly, Jamie and one son, Zachary.

DANNY FERRY

General Manager

Danny Ferry was named the eighth General Manager in Cleveland Cavaliers history on June 27, 2005.

In his first season in Cleveland, Ferry assembled the Cavs first 50-win team since the 1992-93 season and Cleveland reached the Eastern Conference Semifinals in their first playoff appearance since 1998. During the summer of 2005, he orchestrated the re-signing of NBA All-Star center Zydrunas Ilgauskas and the signings of Larry Hughes and several additional impact free agents. He continued building towards a championship caliber team the following summer, including the extension of NBA All-Star LeBron James' contract and the retention of restricted free agent Drew Gooden. In addition to player acquisitions, Ferry also oversees all scouting, player personnel and day-to-day activities of the Cavaliers' Basketball Operations Team.

Ferry spent two seasons from 2003-2005 as the Director of Basketball Operations for the San Antonio Spurs. As the Director of Basketball Operations for the Spurs, Ferry was actively involved in all aspects of the basketball operations department with an emphasis on the draft and free agency. He also aided in the strategic planning for Spurs Sports and Entertainment.

During his time in the Spurs front office, San Antonio compiled a combined regular season and playoff record of 138-59 (.701). While in San Antonio, he won NBA Championships as both a member of the front office (2005) and as a player (2003).

Ferry, a 13-year NBA veteran, played the final three years of his career in San Antonio (2000-03). Prior to that, he spent 10 seasons in Cleveland as a member of the Cavaliers. He played in a franchise-record 723 regular season games (154 starts) and averaged 7.8 points and 3.0 rebounds in 20.8 minutes per game. Ferry's best season came during the 1995-96 season when he played in all 82 games (79 starts) with averages of 13.3 points and 3.8 rebounds in 32.7 minutes per game.

For his career, Ferry played in 917 games (186 starts) and averaged 7.0 points, and 2.8 rebounds in 19.8 minutes per game. He also played in 67 career playoff games (15 starts) in nine playoff appearances.

Ferry was the second overall pick in the 1989 NBA Draft by the Los Angeles Clippers. He spent the next season playing in Italy before the Cavaliers acquired Ferry along with Reggie Williams in exchange for Ron Harper, two first-round draft picks and a second-round pick from the Clippers on November 16, 1989.

COACHING ON: Cavaliers' Head Coach Mike Brown, the winningest first year head coach in team history, made history again as he led Cleveland to a series win over Washington in the first round of the Eastern Conference playoffs. Brown is just the third Cavaliers' head coach to lead his team the playoffs in his first season (George Karl in 1985 and Mike Fratello in 1994) and the only first-year head coach in team history to lead his team to a playoff series win.

WINNING THE TIGHT ONES: In Cleveland's first round series win over Washington, the Cavaliers pulled out three wins by one point. The Wizards became the first team in NBA playoff history to lose three one-point games in a series. On the season, the Cavaliers are 7-0 in overtime games (5-0 in the regular season and 2-0 in the playoffs) and have won their last seven games decided by one point (March 2 – May 5). In addition, Cleveland is 15-2 in its last 17 games decided by four points or less.

BIG GAME JAMES: In his first career playoff series, LeBron James was virtually unstoppable. The third-year pro posted averages of 35.7 points, 7.5 rebounds and 5.7 assists per game. TRIPLE-DOUBLE DEBUT: In his first career playoff game, LeBron James did something that only two other players in league history had done before. He joined Johnny McCarthy (Hawks – March 16, 1960) and Magic Johnson (L.A. Lakers – April 8, 1980) as the only three players with triple-doubles in their playoff debuts. At 21 years, 113 days old, James was the second-youngest player in league history behind Magic Johnson (20 years, 238 days old) to record a postseason triple-double.

CLASSIC COMPANY FOR LEBRON: LeBron James averaged 35.7 points in the six-game first round series against Washington. His scoring average was the third-highest in NBA history for a player in their debut series behind only Wilt Chamberlain (38.7) in 1960 and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (36.2) in 1970. A YEAR FOR THE AGES: Cavaliers' forward LeBron James put together one of the finest individual seasons in NBA history in helping lead Cleveland to its first playoff appearance since the 1997-98 season. The following is a list of some of James' accomplishments this season:

- Became just the fourth player in NBA history to average at least 31.0 points, 7.0 rebounds and 6.0 assists for an entire season joining Oscar Robertson (1963-64 and 1965-66), Jerry West (1965-66) and Michael Jordan (1988-89) in that exclusive group.
- Among all players to have scored 6,000 or more career points, James currently ranks sixth all-time in career scoring average at 26.5 points per game. The only players ahead of James are Michael Jordan (30.1), Wilt Chamberlain (30.1), Allen Iverson (28.0), Elgin Baylor (27.4) and Jerry West (27.0).
- Became just the second player in NBA history (Wilt Chamberlain) to raise their scoring average 10.0 points or more in their first three seasons in the league after averaging at least 20.0 points their rookie season. Chamberlain and James are two of the 33 rookies in history to average at least 20.0 points in their rookie seasons.
- Scored 35 or more points in nine straight games from March 22 – April 10 becoming just the third player since 1970 (Michael Jordan and Kobe Bryant) to have nine or more straight games of 35 or more points. In those nine games, James averaged 38.6 points, 7.1 rebounds and 7.6 assists. The last player to post at least those averages during a nine-game span was Oscar Robertson during the 1964-65 season.
- With his 29 point, six rebound, two assist performance in the 55th NBA All-Star Game, LeBron James became the youngest NBA All-Star Game MVP in league history. - From March 22 – April 2, James scored at least 35 points and grabbed at least five rebounds in six straight games. Only four other players in NBA history have done it (Wilt Chamberlain, Elgin Baylor, Oscar Robertson and Rick Barry). Barry was the last player to do it when he did it in six games ending on Feb. 16, 1967.
- Became the first player in NBA history to be named the Player of the Week for three consecutive weeks (weeks ending March 20, March 27 and April 3) on his way to winning the award five times this season. In addition to winning the award in three straight weeks from March 20 – April 3, he also won the award for the weeks ending on Nov. 20 and Jan. 30. He is also the first player since the 2002-03 season (Kobe Bryant and Tim Duncan) to win the weekly honor five or more times in a season. He was also the only player in the league this season to be named Player of the Month (November and March) more than once.
- During the season James become the youngest player in NBA history to reach 4000, 5000 and 6000 career points. He scored his 6000th point vs. Dallas on March 29, his 5000th point at Utah on Jan. 21 and scored his 4000th point on November 13 at Orlando.
- Set Cavaliers franchise single-season records in several different categories including points scored (2478), scoring average (31.4), field goals made (875), field goals attempted (1823), free throws made (601) and free throws attempted (814).
- Over a seven-game streak from Dec. 26 – Jan. 10, posted at least 30 points, seven rebounds and five assists in each game. He joined Oscar Robertson during the 1965-66 season and Wilt Chamberlain during the 1963-64 season as the only players to ever accomplish the feat.
- On the season, made 19 of 29 field-goal attempts in the last two minutes of a one-possession game (66 percent). James led all players in that statistic. (Courtesy of Elias Sports Bureau)

WHAT BROWN CAN DO: In his first year as an NBA Head Coach, Cavaliers Head Coach Mike Brown successfully navigated his team to the playoffs and became the winningest first year head coach in franchise history. Brown, the second youngest head coach in the NBA, was named the 17th Head Coach in Cleveland Cavaliers history on June 2, 2005 and immediately put his imprint on the team. The team jumped out quickly winning nine of its first 11 games on their way to the fourth most wins in team history (50-32). In the process, Brown surpassed Mike Fratello (1993-94) for most wins in a season by a Cavaliers first year head coach. He also became the first rookie head coach since Rick Carlisle in 2001-02 to post 50 wins. Here's a look at the top five first year records of Cavalier coaches:

FRONT AND CENTER: The Cavaliers front court combination of Drew Gooden, Zydrunas Ilgauskas and LeBron James was one of the NBA's best this season. The trio ranked second among all frontcourts in the league in scoring at 57.7 points per game. They combined for 62 double-doubles between them (Gooden – 23, Ilgauskas – 18, James – 21) while combining to play in 234 (234 starts) of 246 games this season.

FROM WAY DOWNTOWN: The Cavaliers connected on 497 three-point field goals made this season which ranked as the second most in franchise history in three-pointers for a season (596 in 1995-96). Cleveland and Memphis were the only two teams in the league with three players in the top 25 in three-pointers made this season. Damon Jones led the way with 140 while Donyell Marshall made 128 and LeBron James nailed 127.

BENCH BOMBERS: The combination of Damon Jones and Donyell Marshall provided a huge offensive spark off the bench for Cleveland this season. The two players ranked first (Damon Jones – 132) and second (Donyell Marshall – 128) in three-pointers made by non-starters. In addition, when the two combined for 16 or more points in a game, the Cavaliers were 31-11.

DURABLE SNOWMAN: Cavaliers point guard Eric Snow was the lone Cavalier to start in every game this season. It was the third time in his career (2002-03 and 2003-04) that he played and started in all 82 games. Snow finished the year ranked 11th in the NBA in assists-to-turnovers ratio at 2.98 to 1. Over the last four seasons, Snow has missed only one game.

LEADING THE WAY: During the 2005-06 season, LeBron James led the Cavaliers in scoring on 72 occaions. That set the franchise record for leading his team in scoring. ROAD WARRIORS: The Cavaliers improvement on the road fueled them to their first 50 win season since 1992-93. Cleveland posted a 19-22 record on the road which tied for the fourth best road record in franchise history. It marked the fifth-best road record among Eastern Conference teams during the season.

Z FOR FREE: Cavaliers' center Zydrunas Ilgauskas connected on .834 (317-380) of his free throws this season to set a career high. Joe Kleine holds the NBA record for the highest free throw percentage of any player 7-feet or taller. He shot .882 from the line during the 1988-89 season with Sacramento and Boston. Ilgauskas ranked second among all centers this season in free throw percentage and ranked 26th in the league in that category.

EXTRA TIME, EXTRA FUN: The Cavaliers finished the season with a perfect 5-0 (1.000) record in overtime games. That ties the franchise record for overtime wins in a season (5-2 in 1994-95). Cleveland has only had a perfect overtime record in a season twice before (3-0 in 1973-74 and 2-0 in 1998-99). Of any team with four or more overtime games, the Cavaliers finished the season with the best overtime record in the league.

MONEY WELL SPENT: During the past off season, the Cavaliers signed five key components that helped lead the charge in Cleveland this season. The Cavs inked guards Larry Hughes and Damon Jones, forwards Alan Henderson and Donyell Marshall and center Zydrunas Ilgauskas to contracts and all five played significant roles in the teams's success this season. Hughes averaged 15.5 points, 4.5 rebounds and 3.6 assists per game in 36 games. Despite missing 45 games with a right long finger fracture, Hughes helped the team win when he was in the lineup as the Cavs were 23-13 with him this season. Jones averaged 6.7 points and 2.1 assists in 82 games played. Over the final two months (March and April) of the season, Jones connected on 43-96 (.448) from three-point range. He led all reserves in the NBA in three-pointers made (128). Henderson played in 51 games on the season and made three starts. He averaged 2.5 points and 2.7 rebounds in 10.4 minutes per game. He led Cleveland in rebounding for a second straight season and improved his field goal percentage from .492 last season to .512 this year. He was the only player in the league to average at least 10.0 points and 6.5 rebounds in less than 28 minutes per game.

MR. DO IT ALL: LeBron James led or tied for the team lead in points, rebounds and assists for the Cavaliers in 16 games this season. He led the team in all three categories 11 games during the 2004-05 season and twice his rookie season. His 16 this season were the most by any player in the NBA.

Cavaliers All-Time Retired Jerseys

Nate Thurmond (No. 42)
Height: 6-11 Weight: 235
Position: Center
Jersey Retired on Dec. 18, 1977

Long before Nate Thurmond had arrived to the Cleveland Cavaliers on Nov. 27, 1975 and led the five-year old franchise to its first playoff appearance had Thurmond held a warm spot in the hearts of Northeast Ohioans.

Born Nathaniel Thurmond on July 25, 1941 in Akron, Ohio, the 6-foot-11 center starred at Akron's Central Hower High School before taking his talents to Bowling Green State University. As a Falcon, Thurmond averaged 17.8 points and 17.0 rebounds over three varsity seasons, earning All-America honors as a senior in 1963.

Drafted by the San Francisco Warriors with the third overall pick in the 1963 NBA Draft, Thurmond learned behind Wilt Chamberlain for a full season before the Warriors traded Chamberlain midway through the following season clearing room for Thurmond to flourish. A dominant defensive player whom Chamberlain and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar both credited as their toughest defender, Thurmond was named to the NBA All-Defensive First or Second Team on five occasions (1969, '71-74) and was honored as an NBA All-Star seven times (1965-65, '70, '73-74). Thurmond is also acknowledged in NBA history as the first player to ever record a quadruple-double.

Thurmond was traded to the Chicago Bulls after 11 seasons as a Warrior and two trips to the NBA Finals (1964 and 1967). Thurmond spent two seasons in Chicago before the Cavaliers acquired the center for Steve Patterson and Eric Fernsten.

Home in Ohio again Thurmond led the 1975-76 Cavaliers team that started 6-11 without him to a 43-22 finish and the playoffs, helping give birth to the season better known as "the Miracle of Richfield."

The following season would be Thurmond's last as he retired at the end of the season. He was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 1984 and named to the NBA's 50th Anniversary All-Time Team in 1996.

The Cavaliers retired his jersey on Dec. 18, 1977.

Bobby "Bingo" Smith (No. 7)
Height: 6-6 Weight: 195
Position: Small Forward
Jersey Retired on Dec. 4, 1979

On May 11, 1970, the Cleveland Cavaliers drafted 11 players in the 1970 Expansion Draft. Two never put on a Cavaliers uniform. Of the remaining nine, all but one played four seasons or less in Cleveland.

The one, Bobby Smith, played 10 seasons and over 700 games with the Cavaliers, helping to shape and mold the young expansion team into playoff contenders.

Better known as "Bingo," Smith spent his rookie season with the San Diego Rockets before being selected by the Cavaliers in the Expansion Draft. Smith and his patented 'rainbow jumper' became bright spots through Cleveland's early years as the team quickly improved. With each passing season, the versatile small forward remained a constant and consistent performer even leading the 1974-75 Cavaliers that finished 40-42 and one game out of the playoffs in scoring at 15.9 points per game.

The following season Cleveland made the playoffs for the first time and Smith added a bit of magic to the season that has become known as the "Miracle of Richfield." With home court advantage already lost and the Cavaliers trailing in their first round series against the favored Washington Bullets, 1-0, Smith and his rainbow jumpers helped Cleveland find a pot of gold. In Washington for Game 2, Smith scored a team-leading 17 points and made the game-winning shot with just seconds remaining to secure the 80-79 victory. The win served as the first playoff victory for the franchise and propelled the Cavaliers past the Bullets and into the Eastern Conference Finals against Boston where they eventually fell in six games.

Smith played four more seasons in Cleveland, helping guide the Cavaliers to the playoffs two more times before finishing his career with the San Diego Clippers.

"Bingo" ranks in the top 10 all time in franchise history in nine different categories [Games Played (2nd), Field Goals Made (2nd), Field Goals Attempted (2nd), Minutes Played (3rd), Points Scored (4th), Assists (10th), Free Throws Made (10th) and Free Throws Attempted (10th)].

The Cavaliers retired his jersey on Dec. 4, 1979.

Austin Carr (No. 34)
Height: 6-4 Weight: 200
Position: Shooting Guard
Jersey Retired on Jan. 3, 1981

Going into their second season as a franchise, the Cleveland Cavaliers held the No. 1 overall pick in the 1971 NBA Draft and aimed to get an impact player. With their pick, the Cavaliers selected Austin Carr, a high-scoring shooting guard and two-time All-American at Notre Dame.

Carr proved not only to be the impact player the Cavaliers sought, but much more.

As a rookie, Carr immediately became the top option on offense averaging 21.2 points and became the first Cavalier named to the All-NBA Rookie Team. Known as "A.C." by teammates and fans alike, the sweet-shooting fan favorite averaged 20 or more points the following two seasons, highlighted by Carr's selection as an All-Star in 1974.

Just as Carr began to reach elite status in the NBA, misfortune struck. On Dec. 5, 1974, Carr suffered a knee injury that eventually cut short his season and forced him to undergo surgery.

Carr persevered and returned strong, playing in all 82 games in three of the following four seasons. Even after the injury, Carr's impact as a scorer and leader remained present as he never averaged less than double digits in his career and led the Cavaliers to the playoffs on three occasions during his nine-year tenure in Cleveland.

After the 1979-80 season, Carr's final with the Cavaliers, he won the Walter Kennedy Citizenship Award for his substantial contributions to the Cleveland community.

Carr remains the franchise leader in field goals made and attempted and ranks second in points scored. He also ranks among the franchise leaders in free throws made and attempted (4th), steals (4th) and minutes played (4th).

For his efforts on and off the floor, Carr was selected by 32 members of the media in Northeast Ohio to the Cavaliers' All-Time Starting Five during the Cavaliers 30th Anniversary season of 1999-2000.

He remains deeply involved in the organization serving as Director of Community and Business Development as well as the full-time analyst for the Cavaliers Television Network.

The Cavaliers retired his jersey on Jan. 3, 1981.

Larry Nance (No. 22)
Height: 6-10 Weight: 235
Position: Power Forward
Jersey Retired on Jan. 30, 1995

Undoubtedly, the 1986 NBA Draft that brought the Cavaliers Brad Daugherty, Ron Harper and Mark Price brought a youthful injection of much-needed talent and skilled players to an evolving franchise. The acquisition of the three college stars instantly made the Cavaliers good.

But perhaps it was the final acquisition of power forward Larry Nance that made the Cavaliers go from good to great and led to the most successful era in team history. On Feb. 25, 1988, Cleveland sent Kevin Johnson, Mark West, Tyrone Corbin, a first-round draft choice in 1988 and two second-round picks to Phoenix in exchange for Nance, Mike Sanders and Detroit's first round pick in 1988.

Known as "Leapin' Larry" for the dunking prowess that made him the first-ever Slam Dunk Champion in 1984 and his strong shot-blocking skills, Nance brought his high-flying, power game and six years of experience to a team in desperate need of a veteran.

Nance filled that void remarkably, helping the Cavaliers win 11 of their final 13 games that season and make the playoffs.

The following season in many respects served as the greatest in franchise history as the Cavaliers won a franchise-best 57 games (which was later tied by the 1991-92 team that Nance also starred on) and went 37-4 at home. Nance was named an NBA All-Star for the first of two times in 1989 and was joined on the squad by Daugherty, Price and head coach Lenny Wilkens.

Spearheaded by the trio of Nance, Daugherty and Price, the Cavaliers made the playoffs in each season the group played together besides 1990-91, where Price was limited to just 16 games after tearing his ACL.

A tenacious defender, Nance is the only player in franchise history to be named to the All-Defensive First Team (1988-89) and the only Cavalier to make the team three times (1988-89, 91-92 and 92-93).

He ranks among the Cavaliers All-Time leaders in blocked shots (2nd), field goal percentage (2nd), rebounds (4th), field goals made and attempted (6th), minutes played (7th) and free throws made (7th) and attempted (8th).

Nance was named to the Cavaliers' All-Time Starting Five by 32 members of the Northeast Ohio media during the Cavaliers 30th Anniversary season.

The Cavaliers retired his jersey on Jan. 30, 1995.

Brad Daugherty (No. 43)
Height: 7-0 Weight: 263
Position: Center
Jersey Retired on March. 1, 1997

10,389 points scored. 5,227 rebounds grabbed. 2,741 free throws made. 3,670 free throws attempted. Five All-Star appearances made. Four triple-doubles recorded.

Those numbers represent the various statistics in which Brad Daugherty is the Cavaliers all-time leader and why he is one of the greatest players in franchise history.

The number one overall draft pick of the 1986 NBA Draft, the 7-foot center was pivotal along with then-fellow rookies Ron Harper, John Williams and Mark Price in re energizing and improving the franchise. The multi-skilled Daugherty was named to the All-Rookie Team and quickly joined elite status as an NBA center while leading the Cavaliers to the same.

Daugherty played in the first of five All-Star games in 1988 and then led the Cavaliers to the playoffs for the first time in three seasons that April. The following season Daugherty and the Cavaliers won a franchise-record 57 games, including going 37-4 at home.

After an injury-plagued 1989-90 season in which Daugherty missed the first 41 games, he returned to All-Star status. He became the first and remains the only player in franchise history to average 20 or more points and 10 or more rebounds in the same season. He reached that feat in three consecutive seasons (1990-93), being named an all-star in the process each of those years.

In the 1992 NBA Playoffs, Daugherty cemented his place as one of the best in the league by leading the Cavaliers to the conference finals. He averaged 21.5 points on .528 field goal shooting, 10.2 rebounds, 3.4 assists and 1.0 blocks in 40.4 minutes per game during the 17-game run. In the first round against New Jersey, he scored a Cavalier playoff-record 40 points on April 23.

Cleveland made the playoffs in all of the seasons Daugherty played but two and he led the Cavaliers in scoring in all but three of his seasons.

Just entering the prime of his career at 28, Daugherty suffered an ill-fated career-ending herniated lumbar disc in mid-February of the 1993-94 season.

Despite having his outstanding career cut short, the North Carolina native had already broken the afore-mentioned Cavalier records. He remains in the top 10 all-time in field goal percentage (2nd), minutes played (2nd), field goals made and attempted (3rd), scoring average (4th), blocked shots (5th), assists (5th) and steals (10th).

As part of the Cavaliers 30th Anniversary in 1999-2000, Daugherty was unanimously named by 32 members of the Northeast Ohio media to the Cavaliers' All-Time Starting Five. He was the only player to garner all 32 votes.

The Cavaliers retired his jersey on March 1, 1997.

Mark Price (No. 25)
Height: 6-0 Weight: 180
Position: Point Guard
Jersey Retired on November. 13, 1999

They say lightning doesn't strike twice in the same place. But for the Cavaliers on draft day in 1986, it did.

Prior to June 17, Cleveland acquired the first overall pick in the 1986 NBA Draft from Philadelphia in exchange for Roy Hinson and considerations. With the first pick, Cleveland selected center Brad Daugherty.

At the top of the second round, the Dallas Mavericks selected Mark Price with the 25th overall pick. The Cavaliers then traded their second-round choice in 1989 and other considerations with Dallas for the rights to the 6-foot All-American from Georgia Tech.

Unknowingly, the Cavaliers acquired two of the greatest players in franchise history that day. Price and Daugherty helped the team turn the corner and join the NBA's elite while becoming the cornerstones of the Cavaliers franchise.

While Daugherty started as a rookie, Price learned on the bench for a year before unseating John Bagley. Once a starter, Price never looked back.

Widely regarded as one of the best shooters in NBA history, Price and his picture-perfect release guided the Cavaliers to their most successful run in franchise history. With the exception of the 1990-91 season in which he tore his ACL and played only 16 games, the Cavaliers made the playoffs and won at least 42 games every year Price was a starter.

The sweet-shooting point guard was named an All-Star four times (1989, 1992-94) and is the only Cavalier to be named to an All-NBA Team more than once (1988-89, 1991-94), including All-NBA First Team in 1992-93.

Price led the NBA in free throw percentage twice (1991-92, '92-93) and won the NBA's Long Distance Shootout back-to-back years (1993-94).

Not just a shooter, Price ranked in the top 10 in the league in assists in five of his nine seasons as a Cavalier.

For his career, Price ranks first among all Cavaliers in three-point field goals made and attempted, assists, steals and free throw percentage. He also ranks among the top 10 all-time in franchise history in points scored (3rd), three-point field goal percentage (3rd), free throws made (3rd), field goals made (4th), field goals attempted (4th), games played (5th), free throws attempted (5th) and minutes played (5th). Price was named to the Cavaliers' All-Time Starting Five by 32 members of the Northeast Ohio media during the Cavaliers 30th Anniversary season. He was also the leading vote-getter on the Cavs All-Time Team, as voted on by the Cleveland fans.

The Cavaliers retired his jersey on November 13, 1999.

Cavaliers Uniform/Logos History

By Joe Gabriele

Did you know that the famous saying, "Clothes make the man" was a quote by Mark Twain? (And if so, did you know the rest of that quote says, "Naked people have little or no influence on society"?)

The Cavaliers have had their share of unique threads over their 35 year history. Cleveland has changed their look ten times, going full circle – kind of – when they returned to the wine and gold on April 16, 2003. One day after completing a 17-65 season and five weeks before they won the rights to draft an 18-year-old from Akron.

Granted, it was a new expression of the wine and gold, but the Cavaliers current threads are among the league's most popular, something that could not have been said of the previous uniforms. The 18-year-old from Akron has a lot to do with it – in one survey, LeBron James jersey was No. 1 in sales, the Cavaliers uniform, No. 4. But a lot of it has to with the fact that Cleveland's most recent uniforms are just – for lack of a better expression – really cool.

Fans identified with the wine and gold. Not only are they attractive colors as well as the team's original flavor. But the items themselves – "wine" and "gold" – fit perfectly with the swashbuckling theme of a Cavalier. The Cavaliers don't just wear the wine and gold, they are the Wine and Gold. The same way Ohio State is the Scarlet and Grey or Michigan is the Maize and Blue.

In between the current attire and the first expression of wine and gold back in 1970, the Cavaliers have dabbled in burnt orange, royal blue, bright orange black and pastel blue. There have been three seismic uniform shifts in the franchise's 35 years, not all good.

In 1970, the inaugural Cavaliers donned the original gold uniforms at their 11,000 seat venue – the old Cleveland Arena – on Euclid and 37th. The Cavaliers went with gold at home and wine on the road, a tradition that they continued throughout their first 13 years in the league.

The first uni's had the feathered underscore of "Cavaliers" on each jersey, home and road. The logo, which has (thankfully) survived throughout the club's three-and-half decades, had the words "Cleveland Cavaliers" wrapped around a basketball and featured a silhouette of a Cavalier figure jousting with his sword. The logo is every bit as recognizable to Clevelanders as the Indians' "Chief Wahoo."

Cleveland's new expression of the old expression of the wine and gold came about in 1974 and made their triumphant comeback in 2005. The garb that adorned the "Miracle of Richfield" team featured piping with short horizontal stripes of wine, gold and white stacked along the sides of the shirts and shorts. Again, both the home and away jerseys read "Cavaliers."

Long before the current club donned the Miracle jerseys in an actual game – a 104-79 drubbing of the Knicks on January 8 – you could see rappers adorned in No. 34 Austin Carr attire on BET or on the streets from Cleveland to the Big Apple.

In 1981, as the final remnants of the Miracle squad faded into the sunset, the Cavaliers went to a wine and gold scheme that is more reminiscent of today's colors than the original hues. The Mike Mitchell-era team went with a metallic gold with a pair of horizontal stripes with the word "Cleveland" written above it in block letters.

The organization and the team were making big changes in the 1980s and the radical departure from the club's original colors – and its identity – came in the form of the burnt orange and royal blue threads with the word "CAVS" written across the chest. The "V" was designed like a hoop with a ball entering it, which also served as Cleveland's new logo.

The Cavaliers retained the colors – and slight variations on the look – throughout their final, and highly successful, years at the Richfield Coliseum. The burnt orange as the primary road color was replaced by the royal blue road uniforms in 1987 and the "CAVS" logo was replaced with the block "Cleveland" before the 1989 season.

This attire will forever be linked to the Lenny Wilkens era of excellence that featured the likes of Mark Price, Brad Daugherty, Larry Nance and Hot Rod Williams.

When the Cavaliers began play at Gund Arena in the 1994-95 season, there was once again a radical departure from the previous look. From the wine and gold to the burnt orange and royal blue, the Cavaliers went with pastel blue and black. Home uniforms were white, road black, with a blue splash across the torso and lined lettering that said "CAVS" at home and "Cleveland" on the road, both outlined in orange.

The Cavaliers modified this look in 1997, sticking with the color scheme, but losing the mystifying torso splash. Instead, the uniforms featured a more streamlined blue and orange piping along the right side of the shirts and shorts. The futuristic lined letters remained.

But in October of 2002, then-owner Gordon Gund decided to bring Cavaliers fans back to the future when he announced, "Our fans take pride in our team and really identify with the things that make Cleveland different. They want a team whose identity was 'true to Cleveland.' With that in mind, we set out to have colors, logos and uniforms that reflect our history and look forward at the same time. These new marks represent what our fans and we believe is the right match for Cleveland and for the Cavaliers."

The new colors were announced on October 9 – the current "new expression of wine and gold" – a crimson-hued wine color and a metallic gold, similar to 1981 uni's. Dark blue, the secondary color, was a tribute to the Cavalier teams of the 1990s.

The Cavaliers uniforms may undergo more changes as the LeBron James era unfolds, especially in light of the team's new ownership. But old school Cavalier fans are just glad that the team recognized its roots and the colors that best represent the team and the city.

Like the Boston Celtics green or the Oakland Raiders black and silver, the Cavaliers are their best in the wine and gold. It's no surprise that the Cavaliers are now lined up for big things. After all, the clothes make the man.

Joe Tait

Vice President, Broadcasting

Joe Tait returns for his 35th season as the voice of the Cleveland Cavaliers. As the club's radio play-by-play announcer, Tait has become one of the most recognizable and popular members of the Cavaliers and he is synonymous with the team itself. On Nov. 26, 2002, when the Cavaliers hosted the Sacramento Kings, Tait broadcasted his 2,500th Cavaliers game, further illustrating his long and memorable tenure as the voice of the Cleveland Cavaliers.

For the first 11 years of Cavaliers history, he was the voice that let everyone know "It's basketball time at The Coliseum" (or, "It's basketball time at the Cleveland Arena" until the 1974-75 season). During that time, he became an institution in the area while earning a reputation as one of the top sportscasters in the country.

In 1981, he left Cleveland to become the radio play-by-play announcer of the New Jersey Nets. A year later he handled the play-by-play of Chicago Bulls games on SportsVision, the team's cable-TV outlet, and broadcast the CBS Radio College Game-of-the-Week. Tait returned to the Cavaliers radio post in 1983.

After 11 consecutive seasons of calling games at The Coliseum, Tait had to again change his famous lead-in from "It's basketball time at The Coliseum" to "It's basketball time at Gund Arena" for the 1994-95 season, when the team moved from The Coliseum to Gund Arena in downtown Cleveland. "It's Basketball Time at Quicken Loans Arena" is now the lead-in as year number two of the Dan Gilbert led era of Cavs basketball begins.

In December, 1987, Tait was named Vice President of Broadcast Services for the Cavaliers. In that full-time role, Tait was involved in all aspects of the Cavaliers radio and television broadcasting, while continuing his duties as radio broadcaster. From 1987-88 to 1992-93, Tait performed the television play-by-play duties for the 20 games each season which were telecast on WOIO-Nineteen and the Cavaliers Television Network. For the past 13 seasons, Tait has broadcasted all 82 games on News Radio WTAM 1100 and the Cavaliers Radio Network which covers most of the state of Ohio and parts of Pennsylvania. Tait also served as the radio play-by-play voice of the WNBA Cleveland Rockers from 1997 to 2003.

Prior to his full-time association with the Cavaliers, Tait broadcast Cleveland Indians baseball for 16 years. He has also done selected college basketball games that were carried nationally on the CBS Radio network. Tait was named the 2004 "Sportscaster of the Year in Ohio." He also received the honor in 1974, 1976, 1978, 1991, 1996, 1999 and 2002. In addition, Tait was voted the best radio/TV announcer in the area in a poll conducted by the Cleveland Plain Dealer in 1985 and 1986. Tait kept active during the summer of 1992 as the play-by-play voice of the World Basketball League on both SportsChannel America and ESPN.

A graduate of Monmouth College in Illinois, Tait began his radio career while still in college, broadcasting local sports events in the Illinois/Indiana area. In 1969, Tait became the network voice of Indiana University football and the pregame host of Indiana Pacer basketball in the old ABA. A year later, with the birth of the Cavaliers, Tait began his association with the club. Also, Tait was an instructor in sportscasting at Ohio University (1966-68) and at Mount Union College (1989-1994). In the fall of 1996, Tait was named to the Board of Trustees for Mount Union College in Alliance, Ohio, where he has been the TV voice of the Purple Raiders for 18 seasons.

Throughout his broadcasting career, Tait has been honored with a number of awards, including being elected to the Monmouth College Athletic Hall of Fame in October 1991, to the Media Hall of Fame by the Sports Media Association of Cleveland and Ohio (S.M.A.C.O.) in September 1992 and to the Broadcasters Hall of Fame in October 1992. In November 1996, Tait was awarded the C.S. Williams Founders Award by the Broadcasters Hall of Fame for long and meritorious service in broadcasting. They have recently given him The Broadcasting Legacy Award for 2004. In the summer of 2001, he was inducted into the Cleveland Sports Legends Hall of Fame and the Lorain Sports Hall of Fame. He was also inducted into the Cleveland Press Club Hall of Fame in September of 2003.

Tait and his wife, Jean, reside in Lafayette.
